

Answer Hint By Soviets

Warsaw Trip Delay Causes Speculation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's delay in leaving for the Warsaw Pact meeting has aroused speculation that some important Soviet move is about to be made at the United Nations or in Washington.

Gromyko had been scheduled to leave Sunday for the Communist bloc meeting that opened Tuesday in Moscow, but Soviet sources indicated today he will remain here at least until Friday.

Many diplomats, including some close to the Soviet delegation, believed Gromyko was staying on to relay an expected answer to President Kennedy on Western proposals to halt the fighting in Laos. Gromyko conferred with Kennedy Monday on the Laotian crisis but refused to tell newsmen whether his government would agree to an immediate cease-fire.

There also was speculation that Gromyko's staying on meant agreement was imminent on a formula for reopening East-West disarmament talks.

Some sources also suggested that Soviet uneasiness over growing friendliness between the United States and the new African nations might have prompted the Kremlin to keep Gromyko on the scene.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson met with African delegation leaders Tuesday and assured them of substantial U.S. support and technical help for a broad aid plan, provided the African nations take the initiative in mapping out the program.

The Soviet Union which has been wooing the African group for the past few years, was expected to make some move soon to try to counter the U.S. aid offer.

Finch, Mistress Await Fate In Emotional Mood

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Carole Tregoff cries in her cell and, in another part of the jail, her lover sleeps fitfully—a blanket pulled up over his head.

Neither Dr. R. Bernard Finch or Miss Tregoff, his co-defendant, is very hungry. Neither wants to be interviewed.

Both have missed several meals as they wait tensely for the final, life-or-death phase of their murder trial.

The couple, convicted of slaying the doctor's wife, Barbara Jean Finch, return to court Monday when—after another round of arguments by counsel—the murder trial jury will be asked to decide the penalties.

Under the verdict returned by the jury of 10 men and 2 women, Dr. Finch faces a possible death penalty on two counts—first-degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder. Two previous trials ended in jury deadlocks.

Miss Tregoff, convicted of second-degree murder, is subject to capital punishment on the conspiracy count of which she was also convicted. Second-degree murder carries a penalty of five years to life.

CMSC Students Protest Salary Cuts for Staff

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP)—Students of Central Missouri State College held a mass meeting on Wednesday to protest a recommendation by the House Appropriations Committee to institute salary cuts at the college.

Officials of the Student Government Association, which called the meeting, estimated that more than two-thirds of the 3,600 students attended the meeting.

"This cut affects us directly," Robert Easton, St. Louis, told the mass gathering. "If we are to maintain the faculty we have and the standards set for us, restoration of the proposed cut must be made."

Dr. Warren Lovinger, president, appeared before the meeting and answered questions from the floor for half an hour about the committee's proposed cut of $749,961 for salaries.

The college's Board of Regents requested Tuesday that the committee not make the proposed cut.

Health Center Issue Defeated

The Pettis County Health Center was delivered a sound beating Tuesday when the proposal went down in defeat nearly three to two in the voting. With all of the precincts reporting the vote stood at 1,928 against the proposition and 1,245 for. It was defeated a year ago when placed before the people on a special election ballot.

In the city it is ironic to note that the First Ward voters in all four precincts cast their vote in favor of the Center with a total vote of 222 for and 167 against the proposal, while not another precinct in the city voted for the proposal.

The largest precinct favoring the proposal was the second of the First Ward, 96 to 60; while the largest precinct opposing the issue was Green Ridge No. 1 which was 8 for and 138 against.

For a New Building

County School District To Promote Bond Issue

Pettis County School District R-7, comprised of three separate schools near Windsor, will conduct an election April 4, to promote a $30,000 School Bond issue for a new building.

County Superintendent C. F. Scotten said the election will be held in conjunction with the annual mass meeting of the school patrons.

If approved, the $30,000 bond issue will pave the way for $25,000 in state aid toward construction of the new building. The issue of the bonds would thus consolidate the three schools—formerly Hopedale, Elm Branch and Maple Grove—into one larger building on the site of Maple Grove School.

The bond issue would permit the school district to purchase additional land on the Maple Grove site for the larger building.

An additional special school election will be conducted by Sedalia School District 20, in conjunction with the Sedalia City general election April 4.

The annual school levy, the same as last year, will be an issue, along with voting to fill vacancies on the Sedalia Board of Education being created by the Grand Jury Witness Answers, Is Released

KANSAS CITY — A balky witness was released Tuesday after spending 24 hours in jail for refusing to answer the Jackson County grand jury's questions.

Joseph Guastello, 43, refused to answer in two appearances before the jury Monday.

Late Tuesday he spent nearly two hours in the jury room. He was released after Prosecutor William A. Collet reported he answered all questions.

Parochial Students Get Good Friday Off

Sedalia and Pettis County public schools will not have an Easter holiday this year, but the parochial schools will have Good Friday off as usual.

Sedalia School District 200 normally takes Good Friday, or the Monday following Easter, as a holiday, but this year, at the beginning of the term, the Board of Education voted to take Centennial Day last fall as a holiday and have classes throughout Easter period.

County public school students were free to attend Centennial festivities, and count the day a day of school, but the way the calendar worked out this year, there was still not enough days left to allow for an Easter holiday.

Fines, Jail Terms Given To Students

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Scores of unkempt and scantily clad college students were sentenced to jail or fined today following efforts of police to prevent further rioting of the holiday season in this embattled resort town.

More than 100 youths were arrested Tuesday night as police moved to clear out the Fort Lauderdale beach area.

Two judges operating at top speed gave 46 students a choice of either three days in jail or a $35 fine. More were lined up awaiting court appearances.

Some 25,000 students, in Fort Lauderdale for spring vacations, rioted after police imposed a night-time ban on beer and waterfront necking.

The students were clean shaven but appeared in court in wrinkled clothes and bathing trunks. Many were barefoot.

A monumental traffic jam occurred Tuesday night on U.S. A1A, flanking the Atlantic Ocean, as police used blockades to prevent rioting.

Police said the 100 arrests were the result of their crackdown on students who didn't keep moving when requested or "gave backtalk to us."

Students complained in court about police tactics. And ocean-front resort owners expressed disapproval too, saying restriction of the students was stifling business.

Quads Born To Mother Of Six Children

Woman Remarks, 'You're Kidding' When Told News

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—Quadruplets were born to Mrs. Raymond J. Feyre, 35, today, increasing the family children to 10.

The 114-pound, 5-foot-3½ wife—prepared for triplets—exclaimed "You're kidding!" when her doctor gave her the news.

The father, 38, a $120-a-week insurance agent, was told to sit down before the doctor gave him the news.

"Wonderful! How are they?" the father asked.

The babies, ranging in weight from 3 pounds, 5 ounces up to 3 pounds, 13 ounces, had been expected in May.

Doctors described the conditions of all, and the mother, as excellent.

The mother was sped to the hospital for the premature births, all of which took place within a 10-minute time span, May 17 had been the birth date forecast by doctors.

Two of the quads are girls and two are boys.

Prepared for triplets, and with names for all of them, the Feyres are now revising their list.

Papa Feyre—pronounced baby—will also be revising his grocery budget soon. He is now spending $45 a week for groceries.

Having caught his breath after the first excitement, he said bravely to an interviewer, "I'm the father and I'm going to support them. I'm thrilled."

Plans Under Study For Kaysinger

A study as to the feasibility of enlarging Kaysinger Bluff Dam, near Warsaw on the Osage River or Lake of the Ozarks, has been approved in two resolutions adopted by the United States Senate Committee on Public Works. This word was received in Sedalia late Tuesday from Senators Stuart V. Symington and Edward V. Long.

The Committee notified the two senators that it had by action Tuesday, adopted two resolutions asking the Army Corps of Engineers to report on the feasibility of enlarging the Kaysinger Bluff Dam and Reservoir project in Missouri to include a hydro-electric facility, create a larger lake and expand the system of upstream reservoirs.

The Kaysinger Dam project has for the past several years been under discussion and only recently was money appropriated to make a study of the proposed project. At that time it was a dam to be used for water control for the Lake of the Ozarks, the new project will not only make it a water control project but also furnish hydro-electricity.

Unknown Number Tells Amount Of Collection

BOONVILLE, Mo. (AP)—Mayor John Bell, addressing a city-wide Republican rally Tuesday night, was handed a slip of paper near the end of his speech.

The paper bore the numbers 54 20.

Assuming it was a police code signal, Bell confessed to the audience:

"I'm supposed to know these signals by now, but I don't. Can anyone here tell me what fifty-four twenty means?"

Everyone, including several policemen in the crowd, looked blank.

Finally Mrs. Lylburn Mann, wife of the sheriff, spoke up: "That paper means we collected $54.20 from the people here tonight."

Hedy Lamarr's Son Is Awarded $3,500

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Hedy Lamarr agreed Tuesday to a $3,500 settlement of a $100,000 injury suit after concluding, "I can't fight an insurance company."

Miss Lamarr brought the action on behalf of her son, John A. Loder, 14, injured Dec. 9, 1958, when his bicycle collided with a car driven by Frank J. Burnell.

The boy is Miss Lamarr's son by her marriage to John Loder.

Miss Lamarr, who said the boy's hearing has been impaired since the accident, charged Burnell with negligence.

Two Nights Straight

Thieves, Vandals Activities Surge

Thieves and vandals were busy in Sedalia again Tuesday night, following a spree Monday night.

F. G. Turpin, Fifth and Missouri, reported at 8:30 p.m. that someone took four flipper-type hub caps off his car while it was parked on the MoPac parking lot at Pacific and Ohio. He valued the hub caps at about $50.

Merle Vaughan, Pettis County extension agent, reported at 8:55 p.m. that someone had taken a package of multiflora plants from the lawn of the Central Business College, Sixth and Massachusetts. The packages had been unloaded for distribution to persons interested in planting the plants under a conservation program.

Early Wednesday morning, Officer D. Miller reported someone had broken the glass out of a car belonging to Thomas Freeman, Springfield, while the car was parked in the 400 block on South Lamine. Missing was a fish-

Surprise Item In JFK's $3.2 Billions On Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today proposed government insurance of 25-year home loans as a new way of rebuilding rundown neighborhoods without federal handouts.

This was the surprise item in a $3.2-billion housing bill which Kennedy sent to Congress.

Also called for were steps in low-cost public housing, urban renewal and housing for the elderly, plus experimental 40-year, no-down-payment FHA mortgages for families of moderate income.

Most of the items were spelled out in Kennedy's special housing message to Congress on March 9. However, only a vague hint was given them of the far-reaching character of the improvement loan proposal.

The 25-year loan would carry a maximum interest rate of 6 per cent and could total up to $10,000 per family living unit. Present improvement loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration run for only five years, carry a rate of 9.4 per cent and are subject to $3,500 ceiling.

Improvement funds could be advanced in the form of first or second mortgages or other types of loans and would be available in all sections, although basic terms would be the same everywhere.

Officials are hopeful that if Congress approves, the program will become the major weapon in attacking urban blight without federal subsidy.

Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver, in a memo to Kennedy, said: "We sorely lack today the financing devices that are needed to support and encourage the upgrading of good homes and neighborhoods to preserve our cities and protect the living standards of our people."

Weaver said the entire housing bill emphasizes "the improvement of our existing housing supply instead of relying primarily on new housing construction for better homes, as we have been doing."

All these outlays would be in addition to those already authorized. The amount previously authorized for fiscal 1962 is $728 million.

Decision May Slow Missiles

Production Funds For Nike Zeus Not In JFK's Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's decision not to ask funds to start limited production of the Nike Zeus apparently means the United States will be without an anti-missile defense for at least five more years.

However, there's still a chance that congressional supporters of the Nike Zeus may get some production money into the defense appropriations bill this year.

The anti-missile has some strong roots on Capitol Hill. One of them, Sen. Strom Thurmond-S.C., said, "We have already lost too much valuable lead time over the Communists in development and production of this important weapons system."

Omission of any Nike Zeus production funds from the revised defense budget Kennedy sent to Congress Tuesday came as a shock to the Army. Some of its officials had hoped to get about $100 million to start turning out long lead items, mostly radar and computer parts.

Kennedy said nothing at all about the Nike Zeus, but a high administration official said the anti-missile system has not advanced to the point where it can be said with assurance that it should be put into production.

Red Chinese Study Test Tube Babies

HONG KONG (AP)—China's 650 millions aren't multiplying fast enough for the Communists. They are working on test-tube babies.

"Many theoretical and technical problems remain to be solved," a Chinese scientist reported in the official Peiping People's Daily.

The government organ devoted 3,500 words to the subject, indicating the importance the Peiping regime attaches to the possibility of test-tube babies in China.

It's part of Peiping's paradoxical but heavy propaganda emphasis on Communist China's need for manpower.

Despite its teeming population, China is short of machinery—on the farm and in the factory—and it must use manpower to fill the slack. In China, manpower is cheaper than machinery.

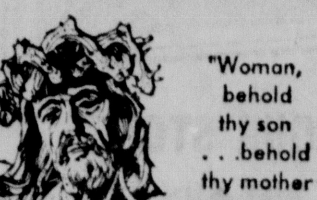

The scientist, Chang Tso-kan, said in his report, "For human beings, nine months of pregnancy is no light or easy burden. Such diseases as poisoning due to pregnancy are detrimental to health."

"If children can be had without being conceived, the work and labor of mothers need not be affected by child birth. This is happy news for women."

He gave no details on experiments in China but Peiping's scientists apparently are following experiments abroad with keen interest. He cited the three Italian scientists who fertilized a human ovum in a test tube and kept it alive for 29 days before they destroyed it.

Mass services will be held here Friday for the 12 members of one family who died when a pre-dawn fire destroyed their home in the nearby Dotsonville community. The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Whitehead, their nine children and Mrs. Whitehead's father, Albert Gibbs, who lived with the Whiteheads. The children ranged in age from 13 years to nine months.

Older Folks Find Pleasant Companions at Buena Vista

By Hazel Lang
Upon the hill top stands the big old white house and smaller modern type house within which are the people of Buena Vista. It could be called Sunset Hill for it is a place where people in the sunset of life find a rosy tint to their years with other people near their age and whose interests are the same. It could be called Sunset Hill because it faces the west and from it may be seen one of the most beautiful views of the sunset anywhere in the world, for sunsets are the same the world over, and are loveliest where they can be seen the best.

Inside the big old house that was once a mansion are 27 women who gather in the big living room and find various types of entertainment. They have become as one family, going into the big dining room to eat and to their rooms, each of which two of them share, to rest. They watch television, write letters or just talk. In the smaller modern type house are 20 men, who live about the same. Both places are bright and cheerful.

The men and women are loved and cared for by the 15 employees. Mrs. Mary Green is superintendent. Eight of the employees give nursing and personal care under the supervision of Mrs. Maude Younger, L. P. N. Three persons are responsible for preparing and serving three balanced meals per day, and there are other employees responsible for maintenance, personal laundry and custodial care.

elderly people of Pettis County, who have only limited incomes and means a great deal to them, for otherwise they would be struggling to get along on their small pensions and trying to do for themselves. The pension pays for their meals, their lodging and other needs. Five dollars is theirs to keep or to spend.

One day a week Mrs. Green and some of the other employees go to town shopping for them. The residents make lists of what they want. It means a lot having a little money of their own to spend for the things they want. Maybe its some special kind of food. Maybe its some material to make something. Maybe it is something they happened to think about and want.

Sometimes the women have to go all over town to get the things on the list but they always come back with everything.

On Sundays they have church in the little chapel during the afternoon and they love that. They love having visitors, too, one or two or groups. They never have too many visitors. Often the groups put on programs, sometimes they bring gifts, sometimes they bring cookies, candy, fruit, and even some come for covered dish dinners.

Any time of day is fine with them, Mrs. Green stated, for people to come, but they do go to bed early, so mornings or afternoons are better than evenings.

Buena Vista, on which all of Pettis County can and does look with pride, opened Nov. 1, 1948, as a home for elderly residents of the County.

It is a licensed Practical Nursing Home, which means that it is approved by the State Department of Health and Welfare, in patient care, dietary service, sanitation and fire safety.

Due to the limited income, only ambulatory persons are accepted as residents of the Home, but if a resident becomes ill, and in the opinion of the attending physician, can be adequately cared for at the Home, there are rooms with hospital beds available. Should a patient need specialized care and has no source of income, they are admitted to Bothwell Hospital under the County Medical Plan and returned to the Home for convalescence.

The Home is operated by a board of managers incorporated as a non-profit, charitable organization under the name of the Pettis County Association for Social Service, Inc., all incomes being used for the care of the residents of the Home.

Richard S. Lower is president of the board, and at the annual meeting recently was re-elected to serve another term.

Other officers are: A. H. Wilks, vice-president; Mrs. M. E. Green, secretary of the board and superintendent of the Home; Earl T. Crawford, treasurer. B. E. Heacock has been elected to membership on the board and other members are: Ed Heffernan, the Rev. D. Warren Neal, W. F. Keyser, Mrs. Virginia Flower, Mrs. Harold Dean and Miss Roseanne Dugan.

The home is truly a community project. The Pettis County Welfare office, the County Court, from whom the Home is leased, Mrs. Shirley Wagner and her staff, who have given their services in keeping the books and permanent records of the association, church groups, garden clubs, extension and federated women's clubs, Scout troops and many individuals have contributed much to the operation of the Home and the pleasure of the residents.

One of the biggest gifts to the home was made by Richard Lower, the president of the board, as a memorial to his wife, Mrs. Stella Lower. The gift of 12 registered Angus cattle, seven cows and five calves, is stipulated as a perpetual one, all income from the herd accruing to the benefit of the residents of the Home. The agreement, accepted and to be signed by each member of the board, will be placed in a permanent memorial plaque which will hang on the wall of the office at Buena Vista Home. The cattle are from the former J. C. Penney Farm, near Cameron, Mo., now operated by James and Son, since Mr. Penney's retirement.

Other recent gifts include a dozen ducks which were raised at the Liberty Park lagoon, a gift of the Sedalia Park Board, which seem to be making themselves at home at Buena Vista; a beautiful three tiered birthday cake from J. S. Simon, superintendent of the Missouri Pacific Shops, and a nice record player and records.

Gifts of all kinds, including money, are very much appreciated because the Home does not have a great deal to operate on.

The board purchased a shampoo board and hair dryer and the women enjoy having their hair done by a beauty operator who comes to the Home. It was really a big day for them when, during National Beauty Salon Week in February, seven operators of the Sedalia Cosmetologist Association spent a day there fixing their hair.

Perhaps the oldest man there is George Hobright, 98, whose father had a mill on Mill street. The ground was given to him for the mill by George R. Smith, founder of Sedalia.

In the same room with him is Tom Smiley, who likes to make quilts on the sewing machine. He has a very old machine, the kind he wants, so he can pedal it, but because it is old he can't get parts very well any more. He needs a new shuttle and hasn't been able to get one. For some time he has been making quilts for his grandchildren. These quilts are made of pieces about two inches square which form colorful little mules about a foot and a half high on a light background. He is making a quilt for each of his 13 grandchildren, and it takes 144 days to make a quilt.

Another man likes to tend to the flowers and yard, and soon he will be able to get to work again. Already he has been out during the sunny warm days looking for the leaves to come out on the trees and shrubs and the new shoots of flowers to appear above the ground.

Spring cannot be too far away when the grass will be green and the trees will show their leaves. The country side will become alive again, and the view from the hill top which is pretty even now, will become a glorious picture of beauty and color. Lawn furniture will again be put out, and men and women of the home, can sit out on the spacious, sloping yard and look to distant hills and down at the Georgetown road at the foot of their own hill where cars go whizzing by. Occasionally one turns in the big gate to wind its way up the winding drive — a car that means visitors are coming to Buena Vista.

The board which operates the Home can supply the physical needs of the residents and many things that add to their pleasure, but relatives or friends bring real happiness.

Visits from people living in the area mean so much to them, anyone who will talk to them — or maybe just listen. A good listener possesses one of the greatest talents of all, and the elderly, who have lived such long, full lives, and have so many cherished memories love a good listener, yet, so few of us take the time to listen.

The Stork Is Still A Busy Old Bird

He continues to leave precious bundles of joy in welcomed homes. More babies mean more school children. More school children require more of everything: Supplies, equipment, lights and heat. However, the greatest need is a competent and qualified teacher for each classroom.

Only half enough teachers are now being trained in Missouri to fill next fall's vacancies. Each district is competing for these available, qualified teachers.

Sedalia's children need them also. We must continue to be able to offer enough to compete with other schools.

Top SEATO Men Adopt Compromise

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Apparently swayed by anticipations of Soviet peace moves, the SEATO foreign ministers today adopted a compromise resolution that failed to spell out what the alliance will do if the Communists continue their military drive in Laos.

The eight-nation council of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization unanimously declared that if the British proposal for a cease-fire and peace negotiations fails "and there continues to be an active (Communist) military attempt to obtain control of Laos, members of SEATO are prepared, within the terms of the treaty, to take whatever action may be appropriate in the circumstances."

The resolution appeared to represent a defeat for the American effort to put over a tough declaration that would warn the Soviet Union that SEATO troops would fight if peace negotiations fail.

The compromise apparently resulted from the sharp opposition of French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, who argued in the closed sessions that the proposed American draft would antagonize the Soviets while there was a prospect they would accept the Western proposals for a cease-fire in Laos.

Couve de Murville told newsmen he was "very pleased" with the resolution.

Deluge of Corduroy Seen Despite Hubby's Protests

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Well, guess what," said my wife. "Corduroy is back in style."

"Back in style with whom?" I demanded. "People or women?"

"Both," she replied.

Well, I had to ask her in all honesty why didn't women leave corduroy alone.

"It's an ecstatic fabric," she said. "It confers a rippled and velvet excitement. It is a wrinkled magic—it sends one."

As a man I had a sense of profound depression. In 1946 on a trip around the world I bought a blue-green corduroy coat in Sweden for about $25 or so. I wear it in alternate years. I heard it. It is a wealth to me.

"That jacket of yours is back in fashion — and after all these years," said Frances. "Imagine that! I think I'll buy something in corduroy for me and for Tracy Ann, too."

Tracy Ann is our daughter, who is nearly 8 years old.

"Please don't," I answered. "Buy you and Tracy Ann anything you want in silks and satin and lace and Nylon or Dacron, but nothing in corduroy."

"Why not?" asked my wife. "Corduroy is getting popular."

"Well, I'll tell you why," I said. "I don't want corduroy to be popular—except with me."

"For four years or more I wore

Army khaki around the world, and while I loved the many associations of service that color involved, I wearied of it.

"So when I had a chance to go to Sweden, and saw that beautiful blue-green corduroy jacket I had to buy it. It was something different. It was a kind of new freedom."

"I understand," said my wife. But she really doesn't. I recall that once I told her the only color I didn't appreciate was brown.

Frances reacted by flooding our home with brown from the bedspreads to the draperies and the towel on the bathroom rack.

It got to the point where if I didn't see something brown I felt lonesome. Wives work in this way, their wonders to perform.

Now I know the next step. Corduroy will cloud my being. My wife will wear corduroy, my daughter will wear corduroy, the cat will knuckle her clipped claws on a corduroy couch. A spaghetti dinner will look like corduroy with meat sauce.

My life will be enveloped in a canopy of corduroy, just because I sentimentally cling to that cor-

What does every woman really want for Easter?

(and has probably forgotten to buy)

HAVE YOU EVER noticed how a female shops? She spends hours trying on a suit. Spends fortunes on a hat. And then forgets the main stems of her Easter outfit—stockings!

So be a hero! Give her a boxful of stockings for Easter. Berkshire stockings. They're a gift she'll wear and wear and wear.

The "wear" is actually knitted into Berkshire stockings—in the famous NYLOC, Run-Barrier. This run-stopping knitted area is at the top and toe of Berkshire stockings.

NYLOC is guaranteed to prevent runs starting in the top or toe from entering the sheer leg area—or your lady gets a new pair, free!

As if NYLOC weren't enough—Berkshires come in a whole "Color Bouquet" of stocking shades! (Note: good-looking legs look even better in color.)

Come to our hosiery counter. We'll help you pick out all the Berkshire stockings your gal wants—and needs for Easter. How much? $1.35 the pair—some a little more.

McQueen Is Looking For Movie Gold

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—

Steve McQueen has laid down his shooting iron and is prospecting for movie gold. Prospects are good.

McQueen made fine impressions in "Never So Few" and "The Magnificent Seven," but his film career was stalled by his involvement with "Wanted Dead or Alive" on TV. Now the series is dead and he can take movie offers, which are many.

What killed "Wanted Dead or Alive"? "The trend," says McQueen. "The half-hour western is pretty dead now." Also, he said that the show was pulled out of its comfy Saturday night slot and sent to "death row" on Wednesday.

Marlon Brando claims he never reads anything about himself. But he's reversing himself and asking for the "One-Eyed Jacks" reduro coat I bought in Sweden long ago—in the desire to be different.

Any rainbow I look up at will have a corduroy certainty. And I'll be a bit homesick for the anonymity of khaki again.

That's how it is. It is hard to share a meaning you doubt another can understand.

Alec Guinness says he won't do a film version of "Ross," the play about T. E. Lawrence he did in London. This should relieve producer Sam Spiegel, who is planning a Lawrence epic.

"Two pictures about Lawrence would be confusing, like the Oscar Wilde films," Guinness said. "Besides, I'm too old to be getting on and off camels."

First of the Academy contenders for 1961 is "A Raisin in the Sun." The film is bound to stir up controversy, but not about the excellence of the acting and the fidelity of the writing.

Dore Schary, writing in Actors' Equity magazine, defends the right of performers to politics. Says he: "I would guess that John Wayne's political affiliations are as well known as Frank Sinatra's, and I haven't noticed either gentlemen is a conspicuous victim of any partisan boycott at the box office."

Doctor's Day Is March 30

Dr. Dooley's Work Honored By Medical Group Auxiliary

The Women's Auxiliary to the Missouri Medical Association is this year honoring the memory of young Dr. Thomas A. Dooley, who was born in St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 17, 1927 and died one day after his 34th birthday on Jan. 18, 1961, ending a life of service to others.

It was on a bitter cold morning that thousands of mourners filled the St. Louis Cathedral while up the aisle six students of the School of Medicine carried the casket of the man the world had come to love, who had become "Dr. America" to those in the Laos jungle.

Eight years before he had gone out from the School of Medicine, his early interest in medicine as a career was interrupted by a two year tour of duty in the U. S. Navy as a medical corpsman. He subsequently attended the University of Notre Dame and the Sorbonne in Paris, and in 1953 received his medical degree from St. Louis University.

His internship was served as a lieutenant, junior grade in the U. S. Navy, where he was assigned to the U.S.S. Montague which was to take part in the evacuation of refugees from northern Vietnam to the free South Vietnam, a mission referred to as "Passage for Freedom."

Sick and terrified refugees poored aboard the U.S.S. Montague on which he was stationed. It was his first experience in treating stricken multitudes of a country that, it has been said, just recently entered the 13th Century.

As the sole navy physician processing some 600,000 refugees in this gigantic undertaking, Dr. Dooley was exposed to poverty, pestilence and disease that would defy description. This changed the entire course of his life.

From the Montague he went to Haiphong, to serve as medical officer and interpreter in a refugee camp of 150,000. He worked around the clock, delousing, inoculating, treating the many and rare diseases the refugees brought with them. When supplies ran low and most Americans were moved out by threat of invasion from the Vietnam, Dr. Dooley remained, pleaded for medical supplies from ships, from American drug companies, from any source he could find. Somehow he got the supplies needed and stayed on, treating the sick, until the Communists moved in.

He had already received the Legion of Merit, the youngest medical officer in Naval history to be so decorated, as well as the National Order of Vietnam, that country's highest decoration, when he returned to the United States as a civilian in 1956.

The ordeal which he had gone through exhausted him and he was ordered to a hospital in Japan. It was here that he wrote his first best seller, "Deliver Us From Evil," about the tragic things he had witnessed at Haiphong.

With the proceeds from this book, generous help from several pharmaceutical companies, and dedicated assistance of three former Navy corpsmen, Dr. Dooley returned to the new government of Laos and set up a small village hospital within five miles of Communist China. He trained the local people in the detailed running of this hospital and then gave it to the Laotian government to continue operation.

His work led to the formation of the Medical International Co-operation Organization, known as MEDICO, which raised funds to expand the work he had started. Because of his own personal magnetism and the universal regard for his work, America responded, and he was able to build more hospitals, increase his staff, buy more supplies. President Eisenhower personally raised $10,000. The movie rights to "Deliver Us From Evil" brought $100,000 more. In late 1957 he returned to the United States to write his second best seller, "The Edge of Tomorrow."

His work was progressing well, when, in early 1959, Dr. Dooley became a patient of his own hospital. He had discovered he was afflicted with a highly malignant growth and underwent major surgery. Within a few weeks he was back in Laos continuing his work. He declared he would go on, dedicating each day to God and his fellowman, not worrying about himself.

But the cancer spread and two days after Christmas, 1960, he was brought back to New York City, and three weeks later died. Messages of tribute came from around the world.

Father Reinert, in Rome for the elevation of Cardinal Ritter, issued a statement that seemed to sum up the way Dr. Dooley's many friends at the University felt:

"Seldom in our times has any man achieved the worldwide recognition that came to Dr. Tom Dooley in his tragically short life. That this recognition came through a vocation of love and sacrifice is all the more remarkable. The world needed Tom Dooley, not only for the medical help he gave to the suffering people in Asia, but, even more important, for the example he gave all of us in carrying out the teachings of Christ. St. Louis University mourns the death of a beloved son and joins millions of people the world over in their grief at his passing. May he rest in peace."

And so, on Doctors' Day March 30, the Missouri Medical Association honors this great native son of Missouri who combined faith in God, medicine, self sacrifice and brotherhood in his brief but inspiring young life.

A Texas Senate Candidate Talks To Small Group

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Harry Diehl, one of 71 candidates for the U.S. Senate, hired the 4,200-seat city auditorium Tuesday night and spoke to a crowd of five, all stagehands.

Diehl, a Republican, said some of the seats would have been filled but three other candidates failed to show up. He said he had commitments from John Tower, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and interim Sen. William A. Blakley that they would send representatives. Diehl and 70 others will be on the ballot in the special election April 4 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

About Town

Mrs. Virginia Flower and C. D. Hieronymus, of the C. W. Flower Co., will leave Sedalia for New York Sunday to purchase summer dresses and other merchandise for the store.

Carnations Will Adorn All Doctors

In observance of Doctors' Day Thursday, March 30, the Women's Auxiliary to the Pettis County Medical Society, will give to each doctor in the county a red carnation, which is the symbol of Doctor's Day.

The analogy of the carnation is closely woven in medical science, so it is only fitting that this flower, so tailored by nature of masculine use, with its spicy scent, was chosen.

The flower meaning: divine — rejoicing, having appeared on the earth the first time when Christ was born; crown — coronation, denotes honorary distinction. Its spicy fragrance was used in seasoning dishes "to preserve the body of men, both in mind and spirit." From the juice of its petals a wine was made "that did comfort the heart of man." The color, red, denotes masculinity, love, charity, sacrifice, bravery and courage.

A bouquet of red carnations will, also be sent by the auxiliary to Bothwell Memorial Hospital and Buena Vista.

A number of stores will have windows honoring Doctors' Day, and the auxiliary has distributed posters to stores which will display them on Thursday.

The banquet given annually for the doctors by the auxiliary will not be held until April 13, having been scheduled for the later date because this year Doctors' Day falls in Holy Week.

Local Ladies At Medical Aux. Meeting

Mrs. J. W. Boger and Mrs. Robert Stewart attended the convention of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Southern Medical Association held in Kansas City Sunday, March 26, at the Hotel President, as representatives from the Woman's Auxiliary to the Pettis County Medical Society.

The Pettis County Auxiliary received several honors at the convention. A certificate of achievement was presented by the American Medical Education Foundation to Pettis County Auxiliary in tribute and gratitude for outstanding aid it gave in assuring for American Future Doctors the finest medical training in the world. This was signed by Mrs. Jordan Kelling, president of the Missouri Auxiliary Association, and Mrs. Maxwell Dey, A.M.E.F. chairman.

This award came through the donations to the A.M.E. Foundation for education and represented many gifts, some given at Christmas time. The award was for the greatest amount of money according to percentage in the state. Mrs. Pete Siegel is the A.M.E.F. chairman for the Pettis County Auxiliary.

Pettis County Chapter also has attained 158 points for 1960-61 activities and received Woman's Auxiliary to the Medical Association honorary award. Mrs. John Lamy is president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Pettis County Medical Society.

Mrs. Boger received from the Southern Medical Auxiliary the honorary award for Doctors' Day achievement for the Missouri Association. She is state chairman of Doctors' Day.

Local Scrapbook Honored

Medical Group Auxiliary Sanctioning Doctors Day

Doctors Day, March 30, is a project of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Southern Medical Association being adopted in 1935. The Southern Association is composed of 16 Southern states and Missouri should be proud of the fact that its scrapbook received honorable mention, which rated it next to the first prize winner of the entire Southern Association.

The scrapbook was made by Mrs. J. W. Boger, who is State Doctors Day chairman and has been appointed again for this year.

Each year the Woman's Auxiliary to the Pettis County Medical Society has been outstanding in the State for its Doctors Day observance and it was due largely to this chapter that Missouri received the honorary award.

The idea for Doctors Day was suggested by the wife of a physician in the State of Georgia and the date of March 30 was not chosen at random, but to commemorate one of the greatest discoveries in medical history, the anesthetic powers of ether in surgery. It was on that date in 1842 that the famous Georgia surgeon, Dr. Crawford W. Long, first used ether as an anesthetic agent in a surgical operation, thereby providing mankind with the blessedness of freedom from pain and suffering during surgery.

And so, each year members of the medical profession are honored by some act of kindness, gift, or tribute in remembrance of these men and women, who by daily devotion to their duty of service to humanity minister to health and welfare.

The red carnation is the symbol and was adopted by the Auxiliary as the official flower in 1949. It is used wherever plans call for flowers in paying tribute to the members of the medical profession on this day, which is celebrated in their honor.

Mayor Proclaims Day Honoring Physicians

Abe Silverman, Mayor of the City of Sedalia, has proclaimed March 30, 1961, as "Doctors Day" and calls upon the citizens of the city to express their appreciation to these guardians of the city's health.

The proclamation states that our State and Nation owe a great debt to those unselfish physicians who labor long hours to care for our sick and who are constantly engaged in research to prevent misery and suffering. The recent death of Dr. Tom Dooley has caused world wide attention to the tradition of self sacrifice of the medical profession and it is fitting that we should, from time to time pay tribute to those unselfish individuals who guard the health of all people.

The proclamation carries the seal of the City of Sedalia.

adopted at the annual state meeting.

In June, 1934, Mrs. J. Bonar White of Atlanta, Ga., president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Southern Medical Association, presented the plan at Atlantic City, N. J. to the Woman's Auxiliary to the American Medical Association, where it was adopted and recommended that each state select a day for the observance. Several states chose May 30.

It was introduced to the Woman's Auxiliary to the Southern Medical Association at the 1935 St. Louis, Mo., annual meeting by the president of the auxiliary, Mrs. J. Bonar White. Since then, Doctors Day has become an integral part of the program and synonymous with Southern.

Doctors Day originated by Eudora Brown Almond, Fort Lamar, Ga., who always carried in her heart fond memories of her family physician whose skill and understanding endeared him to his patients.

Then, in 1920 she was married to Dr. Charles B. Almond and moved to Winder, Ga. Married to a doctor she became convinced that medicine is the greatest profession on earth and doctors—the greatest heroes.

The first Doctors Day observance ever held was by the Barrow County Auxiliary on March 30, 1933.

After the Barrow County Auxiliary adopted Mrs. Almond's resolution to pay tribute to the doctors, the plan was presented to the Georgia State Medical Auxiliary in 1933, but was tabled. The following year, however, it was “where do Doctors come from?”

Now, that's an allowable question from a little girl, and adults too. And it deserves an answer. This young lady has answered her question, in part, by asking it. For by saying “Where do doctors come from?” we know she realizes that doctors are special people with a special gift . . . the gift of continually searching for knowledge and the skill for making that knowledge serve others.

Doctors come, as young men, and women, from all positions in life, from all races, from all creeds to study and learn so that they can better serve their fellow man. Doctors come after years of study and practice to serve you and your friends in your own community.

We who work closely with these “special people” urge you to join with us in this salute to them on Doctor's Day:

Your Income Tax—3

Love Those Exemptions When the Tax Man Calls

EDITOR'S NOTE: The biggest break an income taxpayer gets when it comes time to shell out for Uncle Sam is something called exemptions. Every taxpayer has at least one and some have many more. This, the third of five articles, explains exemptions and may help you find some that you've missed.

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Staff Writer

The people who caused you financial woes in 1960 are apt to prove a blessing at income tax time.

If you strained the family budget to support a mother-in-law, or worried about financing a child's education, this is the season for claiming dollars-and-cents relief from Uncle Sam. Each of these financial problems now becomes a $600 exemption.

The exemption is the biggest tax-cutting device of all. Each one places $600 of income beyond the reach of the tax collector.

You can claim one for yourself and one for each of your dependents. Be sure to study the rules carefully, however, because someone you regard as a dependent might not qualify under the law.

First of all, each taxpayer gets at least one exemption for himself. And a taxpayer who was 65 or older on or before Jan. 1, 1961, can claim a second. Any blind taxpayer is entitled to still another.

On a joint return, you also get an exemption for your husband or wife — two if your mate is 65 or older.

Others who may qualify as exemptions on your return are your children, members of your household (not counting servants) and dependent relatives. They must meet these five tests:

1. Have received more than half their total support from you.

2. Not have filed a joint return for 1960 with their husband or wife.

3. Be a citizen of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Panama or the Canal Zone. This does not apply if an alien child is adopted by and living with a U.S. citizen abroad.

4. Either have been a member of your household for the entire tax year or be related to you, or to your husband or wife if you file jointly.

5. Have received less than $600 in total reportable income during 1960.

The fifth requirement sometimes doesn't apply in the case of your children, stepchildren or legally adopted children. You may claim one exemption for each of these regardless of his or her income, provided the youngster was under 19 for the entire tax year or was a fulltime student.

A student, under the tax laws, is one who was enrolled fulltime in an educational institution or certain institutional on-farm training courses for at least five months during 1960.

The value of any scholarship law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, stepmother, stepfather, grandparents, grandchildren and, if related by blood, aunt, uncle, niece or nephew.

Sometimes several members of a family pool their resources to provide more than half the support of a relative. This often happens when a widowed mother divides her time among her sons and daughters, spending part of the year with each.

Although no one person provides more than half the support in many such cases, each may take a turn claiming an exemption if:

1. The supported person meets the five tests of a dependent, except no one person provides more than half the support.

2. The person claiming the exemption contributes more than 10 per cent of the dependent's support.

3. Each other person in the contributing group files a statement with the Internal Revenue Service, on form No. 2120, declaring that he or she is not claiming

Safety Inspections

On Missouri highways, as well as those in other states, there is abundant evidence to vouchsafe the desirability of laws requiring safety inspection of motor vehicles. This is more apparent on cross country trips, but even a night time drive between Sedalia and Jefferson City will prove the point.

On the highway 50 stretch of only sixty miles, one night we encountered three one-eyed cannon balls coming at us. It's difficult to determine whether the headlights on such an approaching car might be over the center line or not. Two other cars had almost indistinguishable red lights, another none at all.

In city traffic approaching intersections, one can fairly well judge vehicles that have faulty brakes. There are too many of them.

On the agenda of the current session of the Missouri Legislature, is a bill which would correct this situation in our state. It provides that all resident owners of motor vehicles and trailers must submit their vehicles to a yearly inspection and obtain a certificate of inspection and approval by an authorized inspection station.

The inspection will be made within 30 days of the date on which the annual registration fee is paid. No registration license shall be issued unless the application for license is accompanied by a duplicate of the certificate of inspection and approval.

Supervision of the inspection stations will be by the Highway Patrol. No inspection station shall be issued a permit unless it has sufficient equipment to make the inspections.

Application for a permit as an inspection station is made to the Highway Patrol. The fee for such permit is $5. Permits may be revoked by the Highway Patrol if the inspection station fails to abide by the rules and regulations.

The inspection will include brakes, lighting equipment, signaling equipment, steering mechanisms, horns, mirrors, windshield wipers and other mechanisms and equipment designated by the Superintendent of the Highway Patrol.

The fee for inspection will not be less than 75 cents nor more than $1.25. When defects or unsafe conditions are found the owner may have them corrected at any place of his own choice, but the certificate of inspection and approval must be obtained before the vehicle is operated upon the public highways.

A vocal minority no doubt will raise voice against such regulations, but who among them can argue that even one mechanically defective vehicle out of 100 isn't a liability and potential death-dealer on the highways these days.

Missouri Legislators are encouraged to give the vehicle safety inspection bill favorable consideration.

Making Fresh Water From the Sea

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — In Israel four years ago I met a Russian refugee named Alexander Zarkin who was working on a device for turning salt water into fresh water.

Exiled to Siberia some years before, Zarkin had watched Siberians take ice from the fiords and melt it to make fresh water out of sea water. For years afterward, both in Russia and later in Israel, he worked on perfecting this principle so that it could be operated on a commercial scale.

When I interviewed Zarkin, he lived with his wife in one room — cooking, eating, sleeping, experimenting in a space about 12-by-14 feet. He did not complain. He was concentrating only on one objective, making fresh water out of sea water.

About two years later I helped put Zarkin in touch with a young man who once worked for me, David Karr, who has now shot up to be head of the Fairbanks Whitney Corporation and its subsidiary, Fairbanks-Morse. Out of this came a contract between the Israeli government and Fairbanks Whitney for the building of Zarkin's first desalination plant, which will be officially opened today (March 29) in Elath, at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba, just off the Red Sea. It is one of the driest, saltiest places in the world.

This first Zarkin plant will turn out about a quarter of a million gallons of water a day at a cost of 40 cents per 1,000 gallons. With water selling in Nigeria today for 14 cents a gallon, the new plant should soon pay off.

Meanwhile, other plants have been built at the Fairbanks-Whitney home plant in Beloit, Wis. The experiment could revitalize and revolutionize the arid parts of the world.

Governor of Guam

President Kennedy seems to have an irresistible propensity for appointing the best men possible to his Washington staff, then counterbalancing this by sending political hacks to out-of-the-way places.

Today, the brother of the governor of Texas, William P. Daniel, comes up for Senate scrutiny as governor of Guam.

Bill Daniel is an affable, likable Texan with an understandable addition to Western hats and little bow ties, who first was mentioned as governor of the Virgin Islands, then switched to Guam because that mid-Pacific island is 5,000 miles farther away than the Virgin Islands and the shouts of protest would be feeble.

Bill Daniel is such a friendly gentleman that he may get by as governor of Guam, even though his chief qualification at the moment does seem to be kinship with the governor of Texas. But the Senate should be fully informed regarding his background and one interesting letter written to President Kennedy reports that Daniel sometimes gave vent to uncontrolled screaming and shouting when a member of the Texas legislature.

The letter, which comes from William H. Kugle, Jr., a highly reputable attorney of Athens, Texas, also a member of the Texas legislature who staged an important clean-up campaign against crime in the Galveston area.

"I recall especially," Kugle wrote the President, "an occasion when the criminal jurisprudence committee was considering a bill designed to eliminate Communism from the Lone Star State."

"Suddenly and without provocation, Bill Daniel started screaming and shouting and pointing at the spectators who were attending the committee meeting. He seemed to be overcome with a sudden fear that some of the spectators might be armed. He was pointing at a legislator's wife and a group of newspaper correspondents."

"While it will not inspire any of the Democrats in Texas if Bill Daniel is given any appointive office," Kugle wrote Kennedy, "there are many who think that getting him out of the country is worth while at any cost."

Mr. Daniel, asked to comment on the above incident, said he could not remember it.

Daniel's brother, Price, the governor of Texas, twice either sat on the sidelines or aided the Republicans when Adlai Stevenson ran for President. This last time Governor Daniel surprised the electorate by supporting Kennedy. So a grateful President is now showing his gratitude — at the expense of the people of Guam. That island, which suffered from four years of Japanese occupation, will now come under four years of Texas rule.

Behind The Scenes

The joint chiefs of staff have not yet recommended that American infantry go into Laos. But they have bluntly told the White House that without outside help the Royal Laotian Army will collapse within a matter of 30 days. . . The Thai Army is itching to get into the Laotian civil war. For nearly two months the Thai military high command has been predicting that the Laos Army would crumble. . . France, though once governing Laos as part of French Indo-China, is remaining aloof from the present crisis. President De Gaulle has complained to our new Ambassador, Gen. James Gavin, that Kennedy is making global policy without consulting his allies. General Gavin replied politely but pointedly that Kennedy had tried repeatedly to arrange a conference with De Gaulle. Since De Gaulle was unwilling to meet Kennedy, how could we consult. . . Secretary of State Rusk has been bombarded with demands that he stop in Formosa and the Philippines on his way back from the SEATO meeting in Bangkok. Chiang Kai-Shek and President Garcia of the Philippines have even hinted they may desert the United States in foreign affairs — if the Secretary of State ignores them.

Island-Go-Round

Guamanians have long wanted a degree of self government and President Eisenhower took an important step toward this by appointing a native as governor. Ike also appointed a native Samoan, Peter Coleman, Governor of Samoa. Governor Coleman's resignation has now been accepted and the White House is considering the appointment of Marie Berger, an anthropologist, as governor of Samoa. Dr. Berger is a delightful and able lady, has lived in the South Seas. However, island experts are worried over the fact that a woman has never before governed one of the American island territories. . . Some years ago, when, as a young reporter, I was roaming around New Zealand and the British South Seas, I met the Queen of the Tonga Islands, a lady of charm and dignity who seemed to govern Tonga fairly well, under British guidance. Her picture was featured in all London newspapers during Queen Elizabeth's coronation when she rode with great dignity in the inaugural procession. When I saw her, she wore a mother Hubbard, no shoes, and two small sons were peeping out from under her voluminous skirt.

Laotian Thinking On Power Struggle

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—What do the Laotians themselves think about the power struggle between those two far-away giants, the United States and Russia, over their tiny land?

For a lot of them, not much. Report after report from there tells of great indifference to the civil war between the Russian-backed rebels in the north and the American-supported right-wing government in the south.

The greatest popular support is for neither side but for Prince Souvanna Phouma. He's neutral. To a lot of Laotians, therefore, the United States and Russia must look like a couple of busybodies. Yet the Laotians have to depend on someone. The country earns only a fraction of its expenses.

In 1960 its exports totaled $1.6 million while its national deficit was $33 million, about 20 times its export figure. Since 1954 this country put $310 million into Laos, most of it for the military forces.

Yet the Associated Press reports even the combatants are devout Buddhists who don't like to kill and have to be coaxed into fighting by their big-power backers.

The Laotians don't even think as a nation. Many of them are split into tribes. One official said to most Laotians the civil war is just another family fight.

Yet Russia wants the Communist-led rebels to win. A Red Laos would be a foothold for a takeover in the rest of Southeast Asia. For that reason the United States is determined to block them.

So the Laotians are caught in the middle.

If there is peace in Laos—and if the country is divided, as it probably will be, since the Reds don't usually yield any ground—both sides will have to work to win support.

Since both the West and communism will propagandize the people in their area, in due time maybe the Laotians on both sides will learn to get angry enough at each other to fight in earnest.

All this sounds a little reminiscent—although the cases are not identical—of Indochina, half of which the French lost to communism in 1964.

The French had held all of Viet Nam from back in the 19th century. Being colonial-minded, they didn't train the Vietnamese for independence. Eventually, the Communists in the north revolted.

From 1946 to 1954 the French fought them. But the French were so dainty they didn't send any draftees to Viet Nam, just volunteers.

One thing was sure: They weren't getting many volunteers from among the Vietnamese who simply wanted the French out. If they volunteered it was usually with the Communist-led rebels in the north.

Eventually the French had to give up the northern half. Now, seven years later, the Communists are on the move again, sending their guerrillas into South Viet Nam.

If Laos is split in half the time will probably come when the Reds from the north put the heat on their southern brothers and there'll be a crisis of some kind all over again.

Replacements on Way

London Spy Case a Chapter In Soviet Espionage Moves

By Robert E. Hennessey
DPA Special Service

WASHINGTON — To the FBI and Scotland Yard, a spy case such as the recent one in London, is but a chapter which cannot be taken alone. Because, without numberless other chapters, it has neither beginning nor end.

The five London submarine spies are caught, convicted and imprisoned. Five worthless names are blocked out and five meaningless faces are put away for what may be the remainder of their lives.

But even before the five names were given faces in Old Bailey court, other faceless names were sent forth as replacements by the Kremlin to haunt our secrets.

The London spy story — in a tangible sense — began four years ago in Paris.

An airliner from New York had put down at Orley Field. Aboard was a man traveling alone and incognito. He was on his way to Moscow where, he believed, he faced prison and possibly execution.

Paris, therefore, was his last chance.

Instead of boarding the flight to Moscow, he went instead to the American embassy. There, he identified himself as Reino Hayhanen, a Russian lieutenant colonel who for the past seven years had been a Soviet espionage agent in the United States.

Within a matter of hours, Hayhanen was aboard an airliner heading for Washington, D. C. and a highly important rendezvous with the FBI.

He related how he first came to the U. S. in 1950 on a passport belonging to an American citizen who had returned to his former home in Lithuania and disappeared.

Here, Hayhanen worked under a man he knew only as "Mark," and it was to this Mark that Hayhanen turned over all information he gathered from the tiny microphones, in which he was so small they were hidden in nickel coins, one of which had been found in 1953 by a New York newspaper delivery boy and turned over to the FBI. But until Hayhanen told all, the nickel had the FBI baffled.

About this Mark, Hayhanen could say only that somewhere in New York City he had a photography studio. With nothing more than this to go on, the FBI in May, 1957, set out to find Mark.

In a few weeks a suspected studio was located in Brooklyn. But during the first three weeks of FBI surveillance, no one showed up at the studio. Then the owner, a "Mark Collins" arrived. FBI agents managed to take a picture of Collins which Hayhanen then identified as "Mark."

Mark turned out to be Russian Army Colonel Rudolf Abel who is now serving a 30-year term for espionage. Among Abel's papers, FBI agents found the "spy names" used by a New York couple, Morris and Lona Cohen, who had suddenly left the United States for New Zealand a few days before the FBI cracked the Rosenberg atom spy case in 1950.

In 1954 the Cohens arrived in London on New Zealand passports as Peter and Helen Kroger. Through checks with the FBI, Scotland Yard knew they were the Cohens. But at that time, they were not known to be spies. Only communists. But from that moment until their arrest several months back, they were watched by British counter-espionage agents.

From Hayhanen's story, the Abel case was broken, the London spies were caught, and the Cohens were linked with the Abel case and the Rosenberg case — and others still pending.

And out somewhere in this broad land, as alone and incognito as he was that day in Paris four years ago, lives Hayhanen, merely a face now.

GUESS WHO?—Believe it or not, this is a Chicago policeman and he's in proper uniform. Patrolman James Noto wears a new tan smock which will protect uniforms in handling messy work, including loading the paddy wagon in Skid Row.

'Tale of Suits' Fits Basic U.S.-Japan Trade Dilemma

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

TOKYO — The first 35 ready-made men's wool suits were exported from here to the United States three years ago. The raw wool came from Australia. But it was processed and made into suits in Japan. Last year 40,000 Japanese-made suits went to America—over a thousandfold increase since 1958.

Forty thousand suits is still nothing compared to the 20 million men's and boys' suits manufactured and sold in the United States last year.

But the Japanese exports were enough to throw a scare into the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union of America. At its Miami Beach convention last month, the ACW declared a boycott—not just against ready-made suits from Japan—but against allowing their members to cut any Japanese-woven cloth after May 1.

This incident has assumed the proportions of a major diplomatic break between the two countries. President Kennedy has condemned the ACW action. Union has rejected the protest.

All this makes front page news in Japan. Japanese clothing manufacturers had been considering setting a quota of 120,000 or maybe only 60,000 suits a year for export to the U.S. But they didn't act fast enough to head off an American boycott.

This tale of the suits, which everyone can understand, exemplifies the fundamental problem in American-Japanese relations. If what has happened to Japanese-made wool cloth happens to other Japanese exports, things could get serious.

The fundamental international political problem above all this is that the United States needs Japan as its strongest ally in the Far East, just as Japan needs the U.S. as a strong ally to maintain Japanese security. If this alliance is broken for any reason at all, Japan will of necessity turn more and more to Red China and Soviet Russia, or else become another neutral.

The fundamental economic fact above all this is that today Japan is the United States' largest customer for agricultural foods and fibers and second only to Canada in purchases of all other American exports. In the other direction, the U.S. is the largest purchaser of Japanese exports. The trade amounts to a billion dollars a year each way.

That is why there is an American trade mission under Assistant Secretary of Commerce Rowland Brunstun hurrying to Japan at the end of March for a two months' talk.

It is also why there is an eight-man Japanese mission going to San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington and New York on March 30. It will be headed by Taizo Ishizaki, president of Japan's Federation of Economic Organizations.

Among the problems these two trade missions will have to work out on both sides of the Pacific will be Japan's new dependence on Saudi Arabia for future oil supplies, extension of Japan Airlines service from San Francisco to New York and Europe, Japan's trade relations with Communist China and the limits on Japan's textile exports to the U.S.

The Japanese hold the threat of increasing their trade with Communist China over the United States. The Japanese big businessmen don't want to trade with the Reds. They think the volume may be limited to about $30 million annually.

But the U.S. can't ask Japan not to trade with Red China if American importers, American labor organizations and the American Congress are going to limit Japanese exports.

The limitations on Japanese cotton textile exports to the United States offer an illustration of all problems. Negotiations on this have already begun in Washington.

Realizing that if they tried to saturate the American market with low-cost goods they might destroy this market, the Japanese have voluntarily restricted their exports by quotas.

In 1957 the Japanese limited their cotton textile shipments to 50 per cent of all United States textile imports. In the three years since then, the Japanese have held their exports at more or less static volume levels.

But while the Japanese exporters were trying to be reasonable in this respect, places like Hong Kong and India began to step up their exports to America, undercutting Japan.

The result has been that last year Japan supplied only 25 per cent of the American textile imports. Other exporters thus got rich at Japan's expense. This Japan wants to change.

This, and other related problems, are tough to work out. But the important principle involved is that trade means life or death in future American-Japanese relations.

We, the Women

Watch Out, Uncle Sam! Nieces Are Hep to You

By RUTH MILLETT

It was a woman who tipped President Kennedy to the fact that plans were under way for a plush $200,000 annex to an officer's club in France.

Since her tip resulted in the President's personally halting the project, and his press secretary's explanation that the story was made public because the new administration welcomes word of wasteful or unnecessary government spending, Washington mailbags are sure to be top-heavy with such tips — and many of them will be from women.

Women are the real economists in most families. They're the ones who compare prices, shop for bargains, take advantage of sales, and in dozens of other ways stretch the family dollar to the limit.

So naturally they are the ones who get the most burned up when they see tax money wasted. It's not just tax money to them. It's George's tax money — the money the government took out of George's pay check before it ever reached his wife.

Told that the President is interested in being tipped off about government waste, the women are sure to have a field day snooping out flagrant extravagance.

Once they start tattling, to the President, that overworked executive may have to add a new member to his cabinet to handle the complaints.

For you can bet your bottom tax dollar that the women can find out plenty about how Uncle Sam's money is being spent. Think of all the secretaries and file clerks in government offices, of all the wives of servicemen stationed in this country and abroad, of all the wives of government workers. Once they start watching Uncle Sam's spending as carefully as they watch their own, they'll come up with a lot of tales.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

IS FREEDOM JUST A WORD? — President Kennedy and many others say the Communists are gaining on us. Khrushchev says we "Americans are living the last years of our greatness." Foreigners are losing confidence in our dollar, which is one way of saying they are losing confidence in us.

Do we care, or not? Is FREEDOM just a word?

Suppose that in the last election there was only one candidate; that you dared not talk to your neighbor about anything to do with the Government.

That your newspapers printed only the news that a commissar chose to have you read; that your radio or TV (if any) was run by the Secretary of Propaganda.

That you could not visit your relatives or friends in another town or State unless you got a permit; that your wages were fixed by a Secretary of Labor; that you did what you were told, where you were told, and could not talk back.

That when the Government stopped paying interest on its bonds you were forced to buy, you could not protest, or even mutter to yourself in public.

That you could not own the house you lived in, and probably had to share it with one or more families who were filthy, drunken and quarrelsome;

That if you were charged with a crime, you would have no chance of being found innocent if the Government wanted you to be convicted.

Suppose this happened. Would you blame Khrushchev or yourself?

His Last Words...

EDITOR'S NOTE—At first glance Christ's words from the Cross to the two persons He loved most appear personal, almost private. But there is a deeper meaning in them, and a prominent Presbyterian churchman finds a lesson for each of us today. Third of five articles on Christ's last message.

By THE REV. DR. EUGENE CARSON BLAKE
Written for the Associated Press

"Woman, behold thy son... ..behold thy mother."

Unlike the other words which fell from the lips of Jesus in those last hours of his earthly life, this one—directed to his beloved mother and his equally beloved disciple—appears, at first glance, to have no deep religious or theological implications.

It has to do only with the future care of his mother and his friend, which, although important enough in itself, seems to be almost an aside and quite apart from the profound insights of the other utterances from the cross.

And yet, we make a grave mistake if we question too seriously the appropriateness of this apparently private and personal word uttered amid those other words of universal import. For, certainly, a prime insight of the Christian gospel is this: The relationship between any two human beings is always of universal significance. And, further, it is demonstrated here at the cross, and in a new way, that the only right relationship with all men is the family relationship at its highest and best.

Recall the event. Three men are being executed. One of them is Jesus of Nazareth. A group of people is watching; some gloating, others—a lesser number—mourning. Among the mourners, at a little distance from the foot of the cross, Jesus sees standing together the two whom he loves most intimately in all the world: A woman and a man, his mother and his most beloved disciple, John.

We need not harrow our hearts by entering too deeply with our imagination into the feeling that must have been torturing these three.

No faithful student who has ever had a teacher who became as well his close friend, needs to use much imagination to know what John was feeling as he looked at Jesus on the cross.

No loyal son needs to be told what Jesus' feelings must have been as that extra bitterness was added to his woe; that of seeing his mother's and his friend's grief and suffering for him.

But, Jesus was not one to dwell on the sadness of the present moment. He looked instead to the future, and he knew that both these whom he loved would be lonely and lost without him. So he told them in a few words as possible—for the effort to speak at all must have been great—"My mother and my friend, you will need each other as the days go by. Mother, you will find him a son in him. Friend, you will find in mine a second mother."

It is true, of course, that Jesus felt his love and duty to God were first. That is the essence of religion. But those who know Jesus can understand that the lesson he taught from the cross was that religion, with all of its call for commitment and obedience to God, does not give excuse for callous treatment of one's loved ones. This word, spoken in agony of death, is final proof—if such is needed—that he who so loved all men as to die for them was not forgetful of his special love and responsibility for his stricken mother and his distraught friend.

This is as it should be with us. One half of the essence of Christianity is love and concern for one another. And where can any of us better begin than within the circle of our families? If love is not shown within that narrow circle, can we ever hope to find it spreading further?

To all of us, Jesus speaks from the cross: Love those near you, do out your duty.

"For through such love alone, God stooping shows sufficient of his light for us in the dark to rise by."

(Tomorrow: "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me?")

Neatness In Dress Is Most Important to 88 Executives

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—If you're hoping for a step up the executive ladder, choose that new spring suit with care.

A gaggle of corporate chiefs say that personal appearance and grooming are the first things they note about a job applicant.

More than half of 88 executives from many different industries baring their souls on the matter concede appearance had a good deal to do with their own success. And nearly half admit their wives have a role, big or little, in the selection of their clothes.

Almost all deny that the status symbols of big car, big house or big expense accounts influence them when hiring a man for a responsible position.

About half find the tendency toward standard or uniform clothes of the Ivy or banker type depresses them—but only a handful go as far as actually to approve of much individuality.

The 88 were filling out a questionnaire by the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear on the part grooming plays in landing and holding a top job. The institute's survey isn't exactly disinterested, since the institute preaches dressing right to get ahead.

But the minority report has such features as these: Seven prize most the facial expression, while three look first at the eyes and hands, two watch for alertness, and seven for poise. Others list a healthy look, modesty, size, age, and if the applicant's shoes are shined.

Most of the 88 are outspoken about what they don't like when a top job seeker is ushered into their office—clashing colors, sloppy socks, scuffed shoes, bad or overdue haircuts, unpressed pants, ill-fitting suits, extreme styles, carelessly knotted neckties, rundown heels.

Two-thirds of the executives are convinced that management makes a better appearance today than the bosses of yesteryear.

Forty-seven of the 88 state flatly their wives don't influence the selection of their clothes. But one says "she tries desperately" and another says both his wife and daughter are in there pitching. A third says his wife's "approach is very subtle."

One of the stalwarts says if he followed his wife's suggestions he would look like a rose. Another avows he got good training from his mother and needs none from his wife.

One among those who have thrown in the sponge asks: "Do

Sweet Springs Legion Auxiliary Holds Meet

The American Legion Auxiliary of Sweet Springs held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday in the Legion Hall.

A ceremony was conducted to initiate the new members, Mrs. Mae Harris, Mrs. Lorena Guier, Mrs. Marilyn Guier, Judy Hollingsworth and Linda Hartman.

The Part Unit president, Mrs. Delzine Trautman, officiated during the ceremony assisted by Susie Carrender, Louetta Shisler, Betty Eckhoff, Elizabeth Hartman, and the chaplain, Mrs. Lena Lange.

Janet Shisler gave an informative report on her part in the County Day activities held recently, where she represented the office of county superintendent of schools. Reports were also given on the district meeting held recently at Fayette by Elizabeth and Linda Hartman.

It was announced that Karen Fuehring had been selected to represent the Sweet Springs chapter at Girls' State this summer, and Mary Lee Blackburn is alternate.

Plans were made for a bake sale to be held Friday, April 7, and to attend the Gold Star Mother banquet to be held May 6 at Whiteman Air Force Base.

you argue with YOUR wife?"

The head of a machine tool company says, "she doesn't influence my selection as much as I do hers; her clothes must meet my approval."

In fact, 25 assert they influence their wife's choice of her own apparel.

Only 23 of the 88 think the other executives in their company would welcome expert advice on how to dress. One dismisses the subject this way: "Today we have too much expert advice given to others."

One comment harking back to other days on the national scene: "A vicuna coat will always get attention and comments."

Chicago Hurlers Erasing Memory

By MIKE RAHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox pitching staff, which cost the club the American League pennant last year, according to Manager Al Lopez, is fast erasing the memory of the senior's worst finish in 11 years as a major league skipper.

Southpaw Billy Pierce wiped out another hunk Tuesday in a 3-1 exhibition victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers as he limited the National Leaguers to two hits in a six-inning workout and became the fourth White Sox starter in succession to hurl low-hit ball.

Pierce's performance followed similar outings by Early Wynn, Frank Baumann and Herb Score — key members of the mound corps that also includes such proven holdovers as Bob Shaw, Turk Lown and Gerry Staley, along with newcomers Cal McLish and Juan Pizarro.

The pitching must do it for the 1959 pennant winners, says Lopez, who blames last year's third-place finish on the staff. "We led the league in batting, fielding and stolen bases," says the senior. "So it must have been the pitching."

The St. Louis Cardinals, who have lost ace right-hander Larry Jackson for at least a month with a fractured jaw, got a boost when replacement Al Cicotte combined with Art Kay and Mickey McDermott to shut out Milwaukee 1-0 on four hits.

Pittsburgh right-hander Bob Friend also turned in an outstanding job as he went the distance, scattering eight hits in a 9-2 triumph over the New York Yankees and gaining a measure of revenge for the two losses he suffered in last year's World Series.

In other games, San Francisco edged Boston 2-1, Minnesota nipped Philadelphia 3-2, Baltimore beat Kansas City 8-7 in 11 innings, Detroit defeated Cincinnati 7-5 and Washington whipped the Reds B team 5-3. The Cleveland-Los Angeles Angels game was rained out.

Roy Sievers drove in two White Sox runs and that was all Pierce and reliever Russ Kemmerer needed to snap the Dodgers' seven-game winning streak. Jim Gilliam accounted for the Los Angeles run with a single in the seventh.

A single by Hal Smith, an error and Bill White's wind-blown double in the fifth brought across the game's only score as the Cards whipped the Braves with the unearned tally. Carl Willey and Don McMahon spun a six-hitter for Milwaukee.

Dick Stuart's homer with one aboard and Roberto Clemente's solo shot gave Friend the support he required while becoming the first Pirate pitcher to go the route. Roger Maris homered for the Yankees, mired in the exhibition cellar with a 6-13 record.

Ron Hansen's fourth single drove in the clincher for the Orioles in their extra-inning struggle with the A's. Homers by Steve Boros, Rocky Colavito and Harry Chiti powered the Tigers to their win over the Reds, who got circuit blasts from Ed Kasko and Wally Post.

Gene Woodling's sacrifice fly chased across the winning tally in the eighth inning as the Senators edged the Reds B squad.

Fuller and Galloway On All-Star Team

The Western District All-Star basketball team included two area players on the team from the Knob Noster High School, this year.

Mike Fuller, a junior, and Gary Galloway, a senior, were the selection of sports writers and sportscasters in cooperation with various coaches of that district.

Fuller, a 5' 6" guard, has played for three years on the Knob Noster teams, one year as a "B" squad member and the past two on the varsity. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fuller.

Galloway, who measures out 5' 10", plays forward and was co-captain on the team. He has played varsity ball for the past three years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Galloway.

PICK-OFF—George Thomas of the Tigers barely gets back of first base safely in an attempted pick-off play as the Detroit club plays the St. Louis Cardinals in an exhibition game at Al Lang Field in St. Petersburg, Fla. Pitcher Bob Sadowski's throw to Bill White was not quite in time to catch the recruit outfielder's dive into the bag.

Higgins Says Sox Outfield Is Improved

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — "I feel we'll be much improved over last year when we got off to a bad start. Our outfield defense is much better and that should help our pitching."

That's Manager Mike Higgins' appraisal of his Boston Red Sox, who finished seventh last season in the American League.

The club this spring appears younger and faster with the return of Jackie Jensen offsetting the retirement of Ted Williams.

Carl Yastrzemski, the $100,000 bonus rookie signed off the Notre Dame campus two years ago, takes over Williams' left field position.

Gary Geiger returns to center field after recovering from the collapsed lung that put him out of action last year.

Taking up where he left off before his one-year retirement in 1959, Jensen says, "It doesn't seem as if I'd missed that season."

Frank Malzone, an all-star performer, returns to third base with Don Buddin at shortstop.

Then Higgins runs into a problem. Pete Runnels won the American League batting title playing second base last year and 36-year-old Vic Wertz at first drove in 103 runs.

Defensively the infield failed to shine and Runnels says first base is his best position.

Chuck Schilling, a fine fielding second baseman, could shore up the defense. But then what happens to Runnels or Wertz?

Higgins takes the problem philosophically, saying, "Those things have a way of working themselves out. It's a long season, you know."

With right-handed hitting rookie Jim Pagliaroni available to spell southpaw swinging Russ Nixon, the catching appears improved.

Boston's hurling remains a question. Bill Monbouquette posted a 14-10 record to lead the starting staff last year.

Billy Muffett came up from Minneapolis to impress Higgins by finishing 6-4 in his first American League try. Ike Delock, Tom Brewer and Gene Conley, when he finishes basketball, all get a shot at the starting rotation.

Hal Kolstad, a right-hander who pitched for Minneapolis with a 10-11 mark in 1960, might stick with the varsity.

easier to groove than it will if you address the ball improperly. Having the feet soundly planted will make it easier to perfect timing and coordination, so essential to low scoring. It enables you to hit more solidly through the ball.

If, instead of facing the ball squarely with both feet, you withdraw the right foot slightly from the line, the body will turn slightly to the right and the golfer will be in what we call a closed stance.

The closed stance usually is preferable for the drive and other long shots, but it has its limitations, as you will learn.

Three Major Rule Changes Are Adopted

KANSAS CITY — Three major rule changes were adopted by the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada.

The committee also directed officials to penalize coaches or players on the bench for heckling, stomping, or throwing towels or committing other acts considered unsportsmanlike. The officials were empowered to clear the bench.

The major changes, recommended last week by the National Basketball Coaches, were:

1—Eliminate free throws when a foul is called against an offensive player who has control of the ball. The defensive team will get the ball out of bounds.

2—Stop the clock after every violation. That will give coaches more chances to make substitutions. Under the old rule, substitutions could be made only when the ball was dead or the clock was stopped.

3—Create a neutral zone along the free throw lane to separate the first and second players by 12 inches when lining up for free throws. The buffer zone is intended to lessen shoving and jockeying for positions on free throw rebounds.

The committee also decided to allow coaches to signal players for time or to give other instructions. At the center jump circle, a jumper will have to have only one foot in or on the circle, instead of both feet as in the past.

Ring Magazine Recognizes Jofre Bantam Champ

NEW YORK — Ring magazine today recognized Brazil's Eder Jofre as world bantamweight champion and dropped Sweden's Ingemar Johansson from second to fifth among the heavyweight contenders.

The undefeated Jofre also was named "boxer of the month" for his ninth round technical knockout of Italy's Piero Rollo in a title bout in Rio De Janeiro last Saturday night. The National Boxing Association had recognized Jofre as champion of the 118-pound class but Ring had rated the Brazilian and France's Alphonse Halimi as even and declared the title vacant.

The dispute arose when Mexico's Jose Becerra retired as champion and left the throne open. Johansson, knocked out in the sixth round by world champion Floyd Patterson, was demoted below Eddie Machen (No. 2), Portland, Ore., Zora Folley (No. 3) of Chandler, Ariz., and Henry Cooper, (No. 4), the British and British Empire champion. Sonny Liston of Philadelphia still is the No. 1 contender.

Dick Cole Winner Of Derby Jackpot

In spite of missing one shot at Sunrise Beach, sponsored by the Bob White Gun Club, Dick Cole, president of the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club, completed the Sunday winter-spring Sunday shoots by piling up 15 points to become the winner of the Derby Jackpot.

Cole had been firing closely on the competitors and had one Sunday out to go to Jefferson City, but reporting back in he started picking up the points and last Sunday retired the jackpot.

The Bob White Club will now start its weekly night shoots replacing the Sunday afternoon shoots. Their night will be Tuesday of each week until late fall. The local club also is starting its program of night shoots at their trap course, their night to be Wednesday through the spring and summer months.

Tournament Begins

HOUSTON (AP) — The seventh annual All-America Intercollegiate Golf Tournament starts today with Oklahoma State University expected to give Houston the most serious challenge for the team title.

The 20 teams play 72 holes at Pine Forest Country Club on a 6,710-yard, par 72 course.

Dave Williams, who has coached national champion Houston to five straight NCAA team championships, says the Cowpokes from Stillwater are the team to beat.

Homero Blancas and Richard Crawford of Houston lead the list of favorites to win the individual medal title. Blancas tied with Larry Beck of Houston and Don Essig of Louisiana State for the honor last year.

Schoendienst Prepared For Firing Line

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—A fellow asked Red Schoendienst what he was trying to prove.

"Is it the money?" the guy asked. "Is it your pride? You're 38. Only two years ago you were in a hospital battling tuberculosis. You haven't played 50 full games in the last two years. You've put 19 years in the game. 16 at top speed in the big leagues. Don't you think you've had it?"

If the freckle-faced veteran, once the finest second baseman in the game, was annoyed by these blunt, searching questions, he gave no sign.

"I feel I haven't had it," he said today. "I think I can still play ball. I may not be able to play every day and I'm not as fast as I used to be, but I know I can help the Cardinals."

"I'm not out to prove anything. I just want to play ball. I made a good living doing it and I'm going to continue doing it as long as I think I can and others think I can be of help."

Schoendienst, a top star with the Cardinals from 1945 to 1956 before he was traded to Giants was invited to spring training after he had drawn his release from Milwaukee at the end of the 1960 season. After three weeks, the Cards signed him to a $25,000 contract.

"It's not the money, believe me," said Red. "If that was it, I could have played with the new Los Angeles club for more money. Fred Haney (Angels' general manager) wanted me. Gene Autry (Los Angeles club owner) offered me $45,000. But I wanted to play in St. Louis, my first love and my home."

Schoendienst appeared in only 68 games last year, a majority of them as a part time performer. He batted a career low of .257, with only 11 extra base hits. His fielding percentage was next to lowest among the second basemen in 50 or more games. Wasn't that an indication that he might be all washed up?

"I don't think so," said Red. "I feel I could have done better had I played more. The manager just didn't have any confidence in me. He couldn't forget that I had been ill."

"I'm ready for the firing line. When the season opens, I'll be out there swinging."

Mobile Called 'High Art' By Atlanta Mayor

ATLANTA (AP)—Mayor William Hartsfield, 71, climbed a 30-foot ladder Tuesday for a close look at the Atlanta airport's $30,000, worth of dangle mobile sculpture and pronounced it "high art."

Although admitting some people wouldn't like it, the mayor said, "nothing is as controversial as progress."

He also confessed the impressionistic work hanging from the lobby ceiling of the new $18-million terminal building looked like falling leaves to him.

Lakers Haven't Won NBA Title Yet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Five months ago the experts said the Los Angeles Lakers didn't have a good big man at center and couldn't win the National Basketball Association title.

They haven't won it yet, but they need only one more victory over the St. Louis Hawks to clinch the Western Division title — and they still haven't come up with the big man at center.

The Hawks have been considered extremely tough when the chips are down, but they are at a distinct disadvantage tonight. Their great center, Clyde Lovellette, is out of action with a severe back spasm. He was hurt in Monday night's game, won by the Lakers, who have a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series.

The winner meets the Boston Celtics, who beat Syracuse, four games to one, in the playoff for the Eastern Division title.

Nothing Went Wrong With John Kueks

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Whatever went wrong with Johnny Kueks, who at 23 was an 18-game winner with New York Yankees and clinched their 1956 World Series comeback?

Nothing went wrong, says the lean right-hander, but a few breaks, a little luck — and some better handling by ex-Kansas City manager Bob Elliott—would have helped.

"This is not a rap on Elliott (since succeeded by Joe Gordon) Kueks said today. "I'm not the kind of guy who does that. But how many innings did I pitch last year? It was 114, my lowest ever. Right from the start he slapped me in the bullpen and I don't know why. This club certainly did not have that many starting pitchers."

"I'd be in the bullpen and he'd call me in for a couple of innings and I get the hell hit out of me."

"He never talked to me about it. When he wanted to find out about me, he asked my roommate and he found out I wanted to start. It was almost mid-season."

Kueks, now 27, had a 4-10 record last season, with a 2-10 record as a starting pitcher. In the past two years, since the trade that sent him to the A's, he's won 12, lost 21. A hero of the '56 World Series against the Dodgers, when he won the final game with a three-hit shutout, he won only 16 and lost 19 for the Yankees after that.

"There's nothing wrong with my arm," Kueks said. "I just haven't had any luck. No breaks. That's not an alibi. I don't care what anybody says, you've got to be lucky."

"I've got to keep my stuff low. Sometimes the sinker, my fast ball, doesn't stay low. You fight it, laying it in there and you're in trouble."

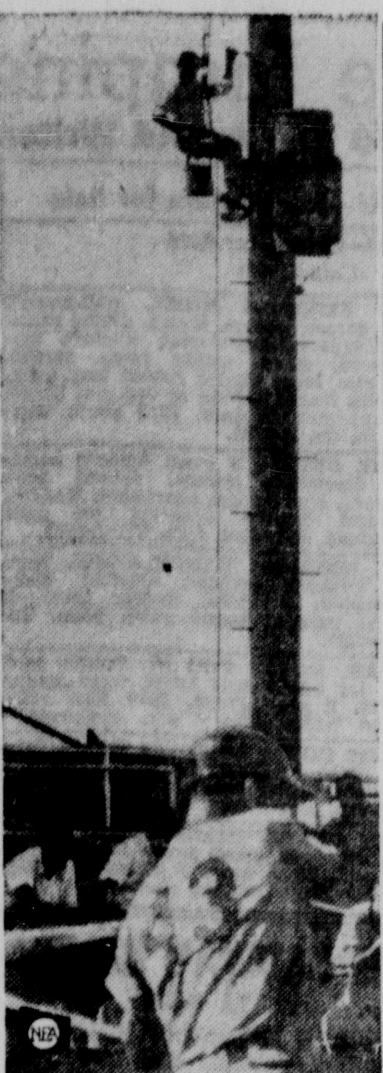

The word is out that the Yankees want Kueks back, but Frank Lane, new general manager of the A's, doesn't think they've offered enough. Kueks shrugs off the talk.

"I've found that the more you hear and see a player's name in trade talk, the less chance there is that the trade ever will be made," he said.

West Downs East In Shrine Game Tuesday Night

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The West, hitting half its shots and dominating the backboards, defeated the East 103-100 in the annual Shrine all star basketball game Tuesday night.

Wait Bellamy, Indiana's 6-foot-10 great, and Kansas' Bill Bridges led the winning attack with 21 points apiece although four other West players carried their share of the scoring. Gary Phillips of Houston scored 20, Tom Meschery of St. Mary's (Calif) 16, Ced Price of Kansas State 12 and Bill McClintock of California 9.

The West, coached by young Sharm Scheuerman of Iowa, led 52-51 at the half and there was never more than a 6-point spread in the spectacular shooting contest.

Trailing by 5 points, with little more than a minute remaining, Bob Wiesenhan of Cincinnati and Larry Siegfried of Ohio each hit for 10 to narrow the count to one point. Phillips made two free throws to settle matters.

ROTARIANS CERTIFIED

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Tucson Rotarians carry their smallpox vaccination certificates now when crossing the Mexico border.

Recently 76 of them had to be vaccinated again when they crossed into Mexico for a one day trip. They had left their certificates behind and immigration authorities insisted on giving them the shots.

City-Wide Republican Rally Held

A city-wide Republican rally was held Monday evening at Mark Twain School. Col. J. W. Donnell, City Chairman, presided at the meeting. The meeting opened with prayer by Oscar Lawson, and the singing of America, led by Kenneth Buchholtz. George Dugan, Jr., treasurer, gave a report.

Col. Donnell stated that the Republican candidates and himself were not interested in a mud slinging campaign to even a remote degree, but that the best interests of the citizen of Sedalia must be their paramount aim, and were going to be factual and definite in their stand.

"We do not charge anyone with illegal action or crookedness, but the necessary foresight, ability, and competence have not been demonstrated by responsible members of the opposition party,"

Ernie Banks Seeks Some Extra Work

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The exhibition game was over. The Chicago Cubs had won. But out came the batting cage and in stepped Ernie Banks who figured he needed a little extra work on his timing.

That extra work was typical of the dedication the Cubs star puts into the game he terms "the best ever invented."

Voted the most valuable player in the National League in both 1958 and 1959, Ernie has hit 231 homers in a career dating back to 1953, more than any other major league shortstop.

Last season he hit 41 homers, but his average fell off to .271, well below his lifetime mark of .292.

"I was swinging at some bad balls so this spring I'm concentrating at swinging at only strikes," he explained.

Ernie works as hard or harder than the rookies in his camp where the emphasis is on youth.

"We've got good spirit and that means a lot to a ball club regardless of where it finished the previous year," he declares.

Chicago opened its Cactus League exhibition campaign by winning a majority of the games. Ernie believes that even this early, that will help the team.

"You've got to have that spirit at the start of a season and winning the exhibition games helps to get it," is his philosophy.

The Cubs finished seventh last season and aim higher this time. Banks says he is working on the double play, hitting behind the runner, following pop flies, base running — everything that will come up during the season.

Even though he plays in nearly all the spring games, he wants extra work, declaring, "You can always learn, no matter how long you have played in the majors."

charged with specific phases of the City Government's operation," Donnell said.

He then listed three important issues now confronting the Council and how they stand on these vital issues. First, was the Board of Public Works. "The Republican member of the Council has taken a firm public stand on this issue, and the other candidates and the City Committee are willing also to stand up and be counted. We further believe that the affairs of the Sedalia Water Department and its management should be subjected to an unbiased and thorough review for the purpose of protecting the already overburdened water users from further rate increases, and for the benefit of the Board itself. It must be assumed that they are in a position to and are willing to defend their policies. Any members unable to do so capably and frankly, must go."

"Also we do not believe the feasibility of using Spring Lake as a recreation area, has been conscientiously analyzed. The waters of the lake were heavily fished until a recent prohibiting ordinance was passed, and there was no contamination or pollution of city water resulted therefrom, and the removal of live fish by anglers under proper rules, is in no sense as contaminating as the decaying flesh of fish dying from natural causes. The excuse offered by a certain member of the Council that they did not feel they had control over the Board of Public Works is with-out foundation, because of the Ordinance passed by the Council providing punishment for trespassing and fishing in Springfork Lake, which was an acknowledgment of control over all city property. Also it was pointed out, the brochure mailed by the Board of Public Works to all water users, defending the proposed 35% water rate increase was extravagant and a waste of the taxpayers' money."

The second issue as pointed up by Col. Donnell, is the unemployment of many of our citizens, and any possible jobs should be provided for them. Col. Donnell said, "The sum of $15,000 turned over to the City Council for youth activities is now idle in a frozen savings account, and a good portion or possibly all of it is available for this purpose. They should begin at once to make planned improvements and construction of play grounds, ball parks, tennis courts, etc., to provide jobs for citizens now forced to seek relief, and use made of this $15,000. Even now, many of our Little League teams are without facilities to practice. This fund was obtained through the efforts of all of our citizens and centennial workers, to be used for this purpose, and should not be used for personal or political gain."

And the third issue he pointed up was the drainage problems, particularly in the first and second wards. "Our Councilmen propose to demand concrete action to correct this once and for all, and this is a situation promised attention repeatedly, but no action has been taken."

Col. Donnell then introduced the candidates. The first introduced was Chas. Bass, candidate for councilman from the First Ward. Bass stated that he was a member of the Christ Lutheran Church, life long resident of Sedalia, married, and the father of four children and buying their own home.

He would like to see some concrete action to correct the present drainage situation, and that the $15,000 should be utilized to further recreation facilities, and he would give his support to members of the City Council on such matters regardless of political affiliation. He feels that the affairs of the Board of Public Works, and the Water Department is one that is serious and he will give it serious study.

Cleo Cecil, candidate from the Third Ward was introduced. He mentioned the condition of the streets in Sedalia, and the need for their improvement, also the drainage problem. He feels that the status of the Board of Public Works must be examined, and he will not disregard the signatures of 1600 people who filed a petition regarding the Board.

Jack Cunningham, candidate for reelection from the Fourth Ward was introduced. He discussed the condition of the streets in Sedalia, the work of the employees of the Street Department, and stated that he thought that the councilman heading the Street Department was a conscientious fellow, but there was a lack of proper procedure. He also discussed the sewer condition in the city. He said the north sewer plant is overloaded, there is going to be a bond issue facing the people for a correction of the bad sewer condition in the city, and this is really going to cost the people of the city. He has repeatedly suggested that they go to the Lagoon type of sewage disposal, because it would be much cheaper than replacement of the present disposal plants. He called attention to the 18 grains hardness of the water from the wells operated by the Water Department, while the water from Springfork lake has only 4 to 6 grain hardness. He said we had spent $150,000 in wells to give nothing but hard water. When the lake was built 34 years ago, it was to provide 700,000,000 gallons of water, an adequate supply if we had no rain for eight months, but the lake is now one-fourth full of silt, which reduces the amount of water available, but we should make surface water available, rather than the use of wells. He also stated that we should be looking for industries to put people to work, and get away from petty things that keep industry away. He commented on the nice parks in the city and complimented the Park Board on the splendid work they have done.

Ed Kehde, candidate for the School Board was introduced, and said among other things he was proud of the School Board for, was that everything that was voted in the school bond issue had been carried out, and he felt that once again the people of the city were having confidence in the School Board.

The main speaker of the evening was then introduced, West Bunce, proprietor of Dorn-Cloney Laundry. He called attention to the fact that the Democrat party teaches that they alone are for the working man, but nothing could be further from the truth. When business prospers, working people are the first to reflect this prosperity. We must change the emphasis from Leisure to Value, and earn our higher pay by producing more for it. He urged people to get out to vote Republican and also to refuse to elect to the Council men who needed the $100.00 a month salary it offers, and thus not able to manage themselves; but to elect men who were able to manage a business for themselves, and not serving the city just for the money they receive.

Ralph Hamlin, Chief of Police, spoke briefly. He stated that politics should be taken out of the department and men hired who were interested only in being good policemen and not there for political reasons only.

L. L. Studer complimented Col. Donnell on his splendid work as City Chairman, for his efforts of the evening, and also complimented Cunningham for his efforts as present Councilman, and spoke of the good characteristics of Bass and Cecil.

Meeting adjourned with prayer

Council Meet Ends

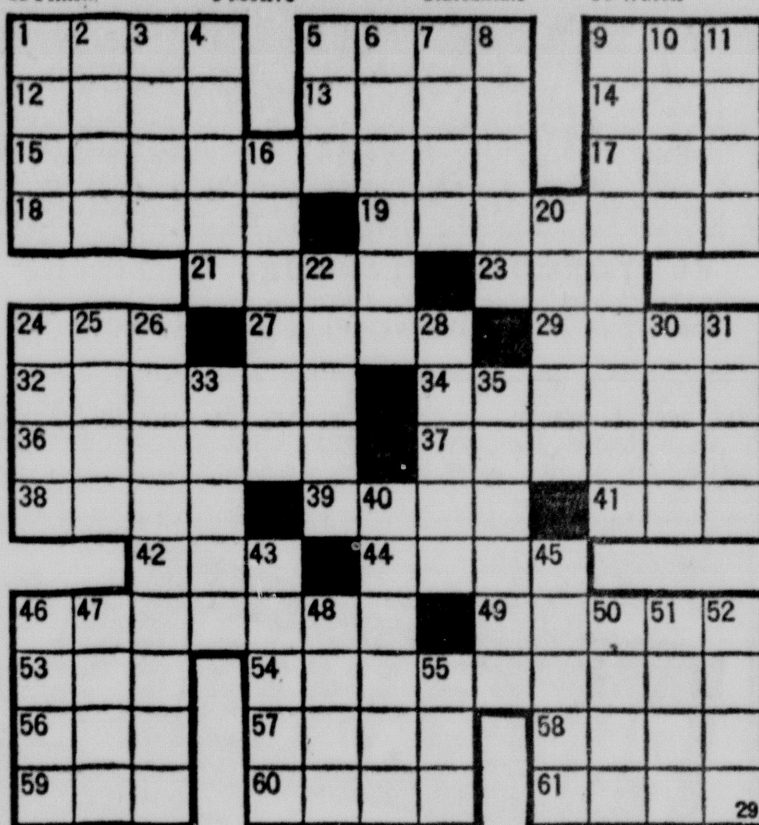

NEW DELHI (AP)—A communist slanted World Peace Council ended a five-day conference Tuesday after a first fight between Israeli and U.A.R. delegates. It followed a heated argument in which Dov Zakin of Israel demanded that Israeli ships be allowed to use the Suez Canal and U.A.R. delegate Akdud Karem declared Israel was a "tool of aggression against Arabs."

Israel Elections Set for August 15

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Parliament agreed Tuesday on Aug. 15 as the date for new elections. Parliament normally would have continued until November 1963, but Premier David Ben-Gurion's coalition Cabinet resigned Jan. 31 and he was unable to put together a new government.

Community of Hell Is Put on the Maps

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The Michigan Highway Department shows the tiny community of Hell on its official maps this year for the first time.

"We decided to put Hell on the map because so many persons wrote asking where it was and how they could get there," said Commissioner John C. Mackie. It's about 15 miles southwest of Howell in southeastern Michigan.

The department also recommended motorists visit Paradise, about 50 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie.

Find Part of Brain Awake While Subjects Are Asleep

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alertness in your sleep, the allergy to old dust, tooth decay and teen-age drinking are subjects with a focus on health:

SLEEP ALERT

Part of your thinking brain may be wide awake, while you're asleep.

British researchers ordered a group of sleep volunteers to raise their hands whenever they heard their own names. Then a tape recording of 56 names in random order was played. The volunteers fell asleep listening to the recording, but many awoke with automatic hand movements when their names came up on the recording.

Some subjects, told to listen for a name other than their own, also awoke when the chosen name was called out, singling it out from the other names in their sleep.

DUST TO OLD DUST

It's the old dust around the house that sets allergy sufferers to wheezing, sneezing and itching, a chemist says.

House dust breaks down with time into the irritating products that cause the trouble. Fresh dust doesn't have the same effect, suggests Dr. Arthur Lietze of Oregon State College.

It's also likely that food allergies are based on digested products of the food, not on the food itself, he told the American Chemical Society.

TOO MUCH, TOO SOON

Teen-age alcoholics: Where do they come from?

A Boston study of 20 teen-age problem drinkers found these facts:

Almost all the fathers and some of the mothers were alcoholics. Often the father had deserted, leaving the family nearly destitute. The pattern of excessive drinking was apparent before puberty. Most of the alcohol was stolen. Outstanding personality traits: Hostility, depression, impulsiveness and sexual confusion. FEEL GOOD FAST

Worried? Feeling low? Have a good bracing medical checkup.

Regular checkups, besides being a good way to prevent trouble, make you feel healthy as well, a British doctor suggests.

Few of us—even the healthiest in mind and body—come out of a good medical examination without a feeling of elation, he says. Reason: We've been assured that our body's complex parts are intact and functioning well.

"For we so frequently harbor fear—varying in intensity from a stifled, nagging doubt to a positive phobia—that all is not well," says Dr. George Day. "Fear is humanity's commonest disease."

TOOTH DECAY

With fluoride dentifrices, good brushing technique and the amount of time the teeth are exposed to the dentifrice are factors in how effective they will be in preventing tooth decay, researchers report.

In addition, brushing with fluoride dentifrices will enhance the efficiency of fluorides applied to your teeth by a dentist, a recent dental research meeting was told.

Order Woman to Help Support Hubby, Kids

DETROIT (AP)—Vernether White, 30, an $80-a-week typist, has been ordered to contribute $30 every two weeks to her jobless husband, William, 34, and their two sons, Stanley, 10, and Ronald, 6.

Recorder's Judge John P. Scallen ruled that a working woman has a legal obligation to support her family.

White, a factory worker laid off last July and on welfare, said his wife deserted him and the children two years ago.

Chivalry Bid Made By Transit Officials

NEW YORK (AP)—The City Transit Authority reached back to the Middle Ages Monday for an idea to improve a 20th century institution—the subways.

The authority began erecting posters asking male riders to give a little chivalry and give their seats to women.

transportation system acknowledged to have a high shove and push content.

Marriages Booming In Miami, Okla.

MIAMI, Okla. (AP)—Marriage is a booming business in this extreme tip of northeast Oklahoma. There are boasts that nearly as many licenses are issued here as in Kansas City, Mo., and twice as many as in Tulsa.

One justice of the peace, J. J. Swetnam, has performed close to 17,000 marriage ceremonies since his election in 1954. He has his office across the street from the courthouse and it is separated from that of a rival, Don Eversole, by a clinic where couples may obtain blood tests required by Oklahoma law.

In 1960 there were 5,320 marriage licenses issued here compared to 5,812 in Kansas City and only 2,302 in Tulsa.

The 1960 census showed Kansas City with a population of 475,539, Tulsa with 261,685 and Miami with 2,869. Miami has become a marrying capital because adjoining states have three-day waiting requirements.

It was singled out for criticism last week by Hugh H. Kreamer, county attorney of Kansas' Johnson County, who complained to Kansas Gov. John Anderson that a 13-year-old Kansas girl used her 5-year-old sister's driver's license for identification to be married here.

Oklahoma law requires that every person applying for a marriage license—man or woman—produce proof of age. If a boy is under 21, a girl under 18, they must be accompanied by their parents, who sign a paper of consent.

Henry Austin, Ottawa County court clerk about 30 years, told a Tulsa Tribune reporter his office follows the law closely.

Swetnam said he now advertises in 10 newspapers throughout the middle west. His competitor, Eversole, advertises a "de luxe powder room" and soft music is piped outside his office.
